ANTI-AGING

CELL-BASED THERAPY

What are the Stem Cells?

Stem cells are special human cells that are able to develop into many different cell types. This can range from muscle cells to brain cells. In some cases, they can also fix damaged tissues. Researchers believe that stem cell-based therapies may one day be used to treat serious illnesses such as paralysis and Alzheimer disease.

Mesenchymal stem cells are adult stem cells isolated from different sources that can differentiate into other types of cells. In humans, these sources include; bone marrow, fat (adipose tissue), umbilical cord tissue (Wharton's Jelly) or amniotic fluid (the fluid surrounding a fetus).

Mesenchymal stem cells (MSCs), or stromal stem cells, can differentiate into many different types of cells within the body, including:

- Bone cells
- Cartilage
- Muscle cells
- Neural cells
- Skin cells
- Corneal cells

Platelet Rich Plasma (PRP) Treatment

Platelet Rich Plasma (PRP) Treatment is an acronym for platelet-rich plasma. This type of treatment involves injecting patients with platelets from their own blood. The blood is extracted through a process to gain the highly concentrated platelet substance. The aim of this treatment is to utilize platelet plasma that has undergone a process to increase its platelet concentration. Those platelets contain secretions that stimulate the body's repair of any injured muscles while also supporting the surrounding tissue recovery. This makes it suitable for medical treatment.

- PRP treatment (Full Face) is a good solution for people that want a more natural alternative to common cosmetic products and procedures. After injection result in firmer and tighter skin. This serum contains platelets rich in growth factors that promote collagen production and skin cell proliferation in the treated areas.
- PRP treatment (Joint) injections are a non-surgical form of treatment used to treat for injuries and inflammation caused by knee osteoarthritis, which can affect the tendons, muscles, soft tissue, and bones within the joint to help relieve pain and inflammation to accelerate the body's repair process.

Erectile Dysfunction (ED) Treatment The P Shot for Men

Erectile dysfunction is a common problem experienced to some degree by almost half of the population aged between 40 and 70. Men suffer from erectile dysfunction, with causing not only tiredness, stress, and anxiety but also:

- Hormonal conditions like an over-or under-active thyroid gland, low testosterone levels (hypogonadism), high cortisol levels (Cushing's syndrome), or subarachnoid hemorrhages, which, like radiation to the brain/head, can cause hormonal changes (especially reductions in testosterone)
- Anatomical conditions affecting the penis' structure, like Peyronie's disease
- Surgery & radiation therapy for rectal, prostate, or bladder cancer
- Penis injuries
- Prescribed drugs' side effects
- Excessive alcohol consumption
- Recreational drug use

Erectile Dysfunction (ED) Treatment The P Shot for Men

Offering long-term erectile dysfunction improvement by increasing the blood flow to your penis, the P shot can result in:

- Enhanced sexual performance with firmer erections
- Increase in your sensation, sex drive & stamina
- Increase (10 percent or more) in penis girth and length by stimulating new tissue growth.
- Straightening of the penis in men with Peyronie's Disease (a condition where the penis is curved due to scar tissue, which can make having sex very painful) by stimulating healthy new tissue growth
